

Dear Employer

A unique opportunity for your apprentices!

The Department of Finance, Building Management and Works in conjunction with Emco Building Company is offering your building and construction apprentices a valuable opportunity in the Gascoyne Region.

The Department is offering nominated building and construction apprentices the opportunity to experience first hand the latest building techniques and products at various stages of the construction of Carnarvon's largest building site: the Carnarvon Police and Justice Complex. There will be no cost.

This $39.8 million project is project managed by Building Management and Works' Perth office. Cox Architecture is the architect and Emco Building Company is constructing the works, which started in early January. Practical completion is scheduled for August 2014.

The complex will include a police station and custodial facilities, courthouse, community justice offices and administrative facilities. It will be occupied by the WA Police Department, the Department of the Attorney General and the Department of Correctives Services, Community Youth and Justice offices.

This is a rare opportunity for regional apprentices to see a major construction project in progress and should give them a wider perspective on the building and construction industry.

To register your interest or for more information, call Building Management and Works Senior Project Officer Michael Williams on (08) 9941 5101.
